

Photographs of Students learning about Vermicomposting and Earthworm Anatomy

Second grade students learning about vermicomposting and earthworm anatomy.

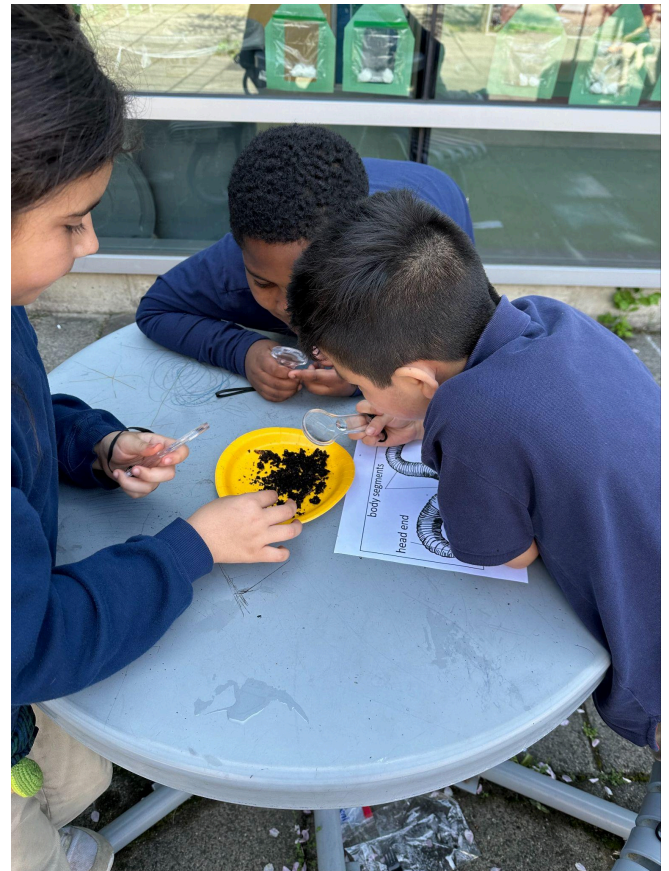

The teacher began the lesson by reading Compost Stew by Mary McKenna Siddals. Students helped fill the worm bin with soil, compost, and red wiggler earthworms. Students worked in groups to observe earthworms and identify parts of the earthworm's anatomy.

Photographs of Students learning about Vermicomposting and Earthworm Anatomy

Third grade students, working in groups, observing earthworms and identifying external earthworm anatomy.

Photographs of Students learning about Vermicomposting and Earthworm Anatomy

Kindergarten students observing earthworms.